About the PTU - SC/ST CELL(for students)

Scheduled Castes (SC) and Scheduled Tribes (ST) have been identified as the backward groups of Indian Society. They include all the castes, races or tribes, which have been socially, economically and educationally backward. Puducherry Technological University aims to create an inclusive, equitable, supportive educational environment that empowers students from Scheduled Castes (SC) and Scheduled Tribes (ST) to excel academically, socially, and professionally, fostering their holistic development and ensuring equal opportunities and impartial atmosphere for students from various communities. The cell was established in AY 2021-2022 at our institution. The cell was started with the broad objective to bring these students into the main stream. The cell ensures that the Government of India's reservation policies are implemented for student admissions at all levels. It collects data on policy implementation, trends, and changes. PTU takes all accusations of discrimination against SC/ST students, very seriously, whether it is explicit or implicit. PTU has implemented several measures to assist SC/ST students, including appointing a senior faculty member as Convenor and a Member for SC/ST Cell for executing all activities of the cell. Atrocities against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes are not a thing of the past. They continue to be a reality in our society even today. Hence, the statutory provisions which have been enacted by Parliament as a measure of protecting the constitutional rights of persons belonging to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes must be complied with and enforced conscientiously. When India gained independence, it pledged to establish a social justice and equitable society. The Constitution of India, adopted in 1950, recognizes the scheduled castes and scheduled tribes as the two most vulnerable groups requiring special protection. The Constitution has several provisions aimed at eliminating all forms of discrimination and enabling members of these groups to participate equally and freely in public life. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 protects Scheduled Castes and Tribes against a variety of abuses involving social disability, property, malicious prosecution, political rights, and economic exploitation. The SC/ST Act provides for higher penalties for offences against Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. The minimum penalty for a public servant's failure to perform his or her obligations was also enhanced. Provisions were provided for victims of atrocities and their legal heirs to receive little relief and compensation. The Constitution of India includes specific provisions for the reservation of services in favour of scheduled castes and scheduled tribes. The reservation policy in India is based on Article 15(4). The Article 15(4) states that the Constitution enables the State to make special provisions for the advancement of any socially and educationally backward classes of citizens or for the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. Accordingly, provision for reservation in jobs and educational institutions have been made. Article 16(4) states that the State may make provisions for the reservation of appointments or posts in favour of any backward class or citizens who are not adequately represented in state services. Article 335 requires the consideration of the claims of scheduled castes and scheduled tribes, along with the maintenance of administrative efficiency, in making appointments to services and posts related to Union or State affairs.

About the Design Club

The ability to design is fundamental in any form of engineering and engineering students must learn to integrate theory, professional practice and social constructs in their careers. As future engineers we have a responsibility in the systems we design; it affects the public directly or indirectly and hence, we must exercise the utmost conscientiousness in our design and implementation whilst considering professionalism and ethics as critical elements. The Design we are referring to as in “Design Club™” brings to the table design thinking which tightly weaves the disciplines stated above to conclude with the masterstroke of a winning solution. But again, Design in the sturdy sense of word certainly adds value but without a precise meaning. So, to conclude with a generally accepted notion, we need different types of people with different mindsets and skillsets, with regards for the aesthetics and accessibility of a design to come together, discuss, get/give feedback and come up with the solution. The club helps students of the college in taking their ideas (projects, app, etc.) to the next level. The members can also be approached to reinvent, recode and bring back to life college assets in need of renovation like the college website.

Mission

To craft based on design thinking and bring into play ideas which not only are visually aesthetic and attentive to details but also warrant a positive impact.

To be incorporated as a lighthouse-project which effectuates a knowledge and skill network facilitating learning and creativity within the campus.

Vision

To foster collaboration amongst members and partners in developing design language solutions digitally or non-digitally and contribute pro bono towards projecting the institute as a standard setting establishment.
